COVERINGS

With the addition of over 100 new fabrics and leathers, Taylor King expands its coverings line with a variety of new textures, colors and patterns.

Notable among these introductions is a suite of dramatic black and white patterns inspired by Asian Foo Dog “Lions”, an eastern-themed motif symbolizing protection of the home. This Belgian grospoint, or epingle’ (cut and uncut loop pile), is made of viscose and cotton on one of the very few looms in the world capable of weaving it. Pastiche Tuxedo, another Belgian grospoint and hallmark of the black and white collection, is a modern traditional geometric with cascading curves.

Wool plaids, performance velvets, elegant tie-dyes, intricate embroideries, and a swath of greens and foggy blues round out the Fall 2020 covering introductions.
