Lillian August Unveils Expansions at April High Point Market: Introducing Captivating Color Stories and Elegant Furniture Additions

HIGH POINT, N. C. - High-end luxury home furnishings brand, Lillian August, is poised to impress at the upcoming April High Point Market with a remarkable expansion of their upholstery and casegoods assortment. Boasting an enchanting array of new color stories, this expansion promises to captivate visitors with its blend of tranquility, sophistication, and innovation.

Lillian August continues to lead the charge in embracing distinct lifestyles, notably with the introduction of the New Traditional collection. Influenced by Eliza Weiss, Lillian's granddaughter, this collection offers a fresh interpretation of the grand millennial craze which draws inspiration from the brand's heritage while embracing the allure of cabbage roses and floral motifs.

Lillian August challenges conventional notions of coastal style with her latest introductions, inviting customers to embrace a fresh perspective on traditional aesthetics. Lillian's newest casegoods additions showcase classic couture color palettes that blend traditional design elements with coastal charm, featuring raffia-wrapped pieces adorned with satin brass accents. The new additions to the collection redefine sophistication with a new skirted banquette and tall shaped headboards, showcasing a harmonious blend of coastal charm and modern elegance.

"The inspiration behind the New Traditional Collection stems from the timeless aesthetics that my grandmother envisioned when she established the brand over three decades ago," says Eliza, "It's a full circle moment that we are witnessing the revival of these classic looks, now embraced by a new generation of fearless designers who are decorating with vibrant colors and daring print combinations."

The journey through the showroom culminates in the Iconics Collection, featuring richer tones and exquisite finishes. Visitors will revel in the beauty of new deco leather chairs and burl wood finishes, a testament to Lillian August's commitment to timeless elegance. Trends highlighted this season include interesting rounded curves, antique inspired upholstery details and custom workshop pieces that can be finished to fit a range of lifestyles.

"Our love for classical design inspired by timeless antiques and vintage forms is on full display this market with our eclectic mix of pattern, materials and color," says Lillian August, Co-Founder Dan Weiss.
