Robert Abbey Fine Lighting Announces the Carbonia Collection: A Polished and Fresh Take on Candlestick Lighting

HICKORY, NC - Robert Abbey Fine Lighting, known for its high style and versatility in a variety of décor styles, and Mavisten Edition, a contemporary design brand known for its warm, golden hour-inspired lighting, have merged their innovative design forces and are proud to launch the Carbonia Collection, debuting at the Robert Abbey Showroom during High Point Market Fall '24 (October 26th-30th).

"My passion for light comes from the magic of the golden hour of the California sunset; I want people to feel that atmosphere in their homes," says Mavisten Edition designer Michael Almodova.

This is the second collaboration between these two leading lighting brands. The Carbonia Collection is a polished, fresh take on traditional candlestick lighting that is effortlessly chic, seamlessly blending elements from Parisian chic, Mid-Century Modern, and Contemporary styles.

With graceful lines and delicate curves, these lights are an anchoring design element and focal point to elevate any room. Crafted with an iron metal body, the Carbonia Collection is available in two distinctive finishes: Mavisten Brass: A matte finish with a soft brass patina, evoking a subtle, luxurious appeal, and Black Chrome: A polished, reflective plating with an obsidian nickel tone, adding a sleek and modern touch. The fabric shades are made from warm white linen on a hardback frame, creating a soft, inviting glow that enhances the overall ambiance.

One of the standout features of the Carbonia Collection is its beautifully machined, extra-long candle sleeves, which give the chandeliers their striking proportions and a refined, elegant silhouette. This enhanced detail adds a level of sophistication that is sure to captivate the eye. The result is a versatile collection that complements a wide range of interior aesthetics, bringing elegance and sophistication to any space.
