HOME FURNISHINGS INDUSTRY COURTS CAUTIOUS CONSUMERS WITH DESIGNS TO BOOST WELL-BEING

At the world's largest home furnishings trade show this week, endless customization, nurturing comfort and inspiring style take center stage.

HIGH POINT, N.C. – The home furnishings industry is banking on mood-lifting and wellness-focused designs to persuade Americans to spend on their homes in 2026.

“Over 70,000 industry professionals are in High Point, North Carolina, this week searching for products to help combat inflation fatigue,” notes Patricia Bowling, vice president of communications for the American Home Furnishings Alliance (AHFA). “Producers believe the antidote lies in fresh and purposeful home furnishings that prioritize customized style, comfort and well-being.”

AHFA has more than 250 member companies representing all styles and price points of residential furniture. An overview of their new products debuting at this week’s High Point Market reveals several trends consumers can expect to see in stores and online this fall:

- The democratization of customization. Once available only in luxury brands and with the help of an interior designer, furniture customized to meet your needs is more accessible than ever and a key feature in many new collections.
- Nurturing comfort. How well you sleep, how wholly you relax, how easily you accomplish daily tasks – all these can be promoted or hindered by how a room is furnished. Many designs for 2026 focus on augmenting these important aspects of wellness at home.
- A warming color spectrum. Wood tones have moved decidedly to the warmer end of the spectrum, with natural oak finishes figuring prominently in bedroom and dining room groups this spring. Textiles lean heavily into earthy neutrals and rich spice tones that feel grounded and nurturing. However, in an equally strong countertrend, especially within luxury brands, a watercolor palette of soft pastels prevails.

This summary of new products features introductions from AHFA’s member companies. Company locations listed are High Point Market showrooms, not company headquarters. Company contacts listed are for media inquiries. Corporate web addresses are provided for consumers.

American Leather

Showplace, 5th Floor

Media contact: Brody Gaultney

Sedona is a new modular sectional offering both a 25- and 35-inch seat width for flexible layouts. The sculptural sloped arm is defined by tailored pleats, and the articulating headrest allows for customized comfort. Integrated in-arm controls have optional USB-C charging and select console units offer wireless charging. The Gideon three-seat motion sofa introduces a more tailored, streamlined take on motion furniture. It has a clean track arm and offers a block wood leg or a clean, to-the-floor profile with hidden feet. Gideon is also available as a modular sectional. Designed by Alfredo Paredes, the Arcade Bed brings architectural rhythm and softness into balance. The vertical channel-tufted upholstery adds depth to both the headboard and low-profile footboard. New fabrics at American leather include Tartan, a modern take on a classic plaid; Hearth, a wool-like, brushed texture inspired by mohair and alpaca textures; Blake, a clean, linen-inspired weave with FibreGuard performance finish; Clio, a soft, textural chenille with inherent cleanability; and Umbria, a stonewashed cotton in an earth-inspired palette. www.americanleather.com

A|R|T Furniture

122 North Hamilton

Media contact: Roger Turnbow

rturnbow@arthomefurnishings.com

A|R|T Furniture is focused on a layered, globally influenced aesthetic this spring. Among the new collections is Marina, about 30 pieces influenced by traditional European forms but contemporized with design inspiration from the coastal towns of Spain, Portugal and Morocco. It features oak veneers in a whitewashed finish with accents of sea glass and embossed grasscloth. Avenue is a smaller collection featuring white lacquer with a black pinstripe – what company president Roger Turnbow describes as a “throwback to Hollywood Luxe.” www.arthomefurnishings.com

Baker | McGuire

Media contact: Kendall Shaver

kendall@jwadepr.com

Baker reimagines the iconic Milling Road Collection this spring with 33 new pieces that draw inspiration from 18th, 19th and 20th century European designs, French antique shops, English royal estates and the works of master craftspeople across generations. Crafted in walnut, oak, brushed pine, leather and polished metal, this collection balances elegance with durability. Also new is the Baker Jensen Collection, presenting an artful interpretation of modern Scandinavian design defined by clean-lined silhouettes and refined materials. Crafted in warm, figured walnut, the group features delicately tapered legs, reeded edges and elliptical hardware in brushed antique bronze. McGuire will debut a 19-piece Mediterranean-inspired outdoor collection in collaboration with renowned designer Thomas Pheasant. Blending sculptural forms with everyday comfort, the collection features hammered and blackened stainless steel frames, travertine tabletops and ergonomically-designed seating. www.bakerfurniture.com

Bassett Mirror

BDIIHFC D-724*Media contact: Dave Adams
daveadams@bdiusa.com

BDI enters the dining category this spring with two groups, Bloom and Halcyon. Bloom offers a round dining table with a sculpted pedestal base. The satin-edge glass top is available in 48- and 60-inch sizes. Halcyon pairs a substantial wood top with a base that hides integrated storage to keep everyday items accessible. Both are shown with the new Cove Dining Chair. Also new are the Plume Media Consoles, available in three- and four-door configurations in a softly curved natural walnut hardwood and veneer cabinet. Each door is formed with a gentle concave profile and constructed with an acoustic grid wrapped in speaker grille cloth. The result is a surface that allows sound to pass freely while protecting components within. Finally, the Sequel Studio Collection offers a streamlined home office group with four essential components: a desk with integrated power access, a return, mobile file pedestal and multifunction cabinet.

Bernhardt Furniture Company101 North Hamilton*Media contact: Heather Eidenmiller heathereidenmiller@bernhardt.com

Two new collections reintroduce soft wood tones to Bernhardt casegoods. Asana combines Eastern minimalism with an organic Scandinavian sensibility in ash solids with cerused oak veneers. Accents include warm brass cast aluminum, woven abaca and faux travertine. The collection includes seven functional storage and stand-alone pieces, including a four-door credenza, a cocktail table, writing desk, console with storage drawers, three-drawer and four-drawer chests and a bookcase with storage. Dilworth is a casual modern/modern rustic collection in ash solids and oak veneers with a mid-brown finish. Accents of hammered metal and faux bluestone add a hint of vintage charm. Key pieces include a tall, glass-door cabinet, round dining table, long console with faux bluestone top, a four-door credenza and a small chest with curved drawerfronts. www.bernhardt.com

Symphony is a new casegoods collection redefining traditional elegance for the modern home. The curated assortment of bedroom, dining and occasional pieces blends French, Italian, Scandinavian and Asian design influences with striking painted finishes, metal accents and a vibrant library of colorful, textural fabrics. Crafted in walnut, oak, alder and maple, the collection is meant to represent a well assembled home, with pieces collected from differing periods of history and design. Three new finishes – Gustavian White, Gustavian Black and Napa, an amber wood tone – are featured. Highlights include the Blenheim Bed, available as a canopy or a panel bed in dark walnut with upholstered panels on the headboard and footboard, and the Andorra Cabinet, an Italian-inspired four-drawer accent elevated on tapered legs and shown in the new Gustavian Black finish with eight brass rosette pulls and keyholes. Century also is launching a new lighting collection this week with more than 40 distinctive designs including table and floor lamps along with sconces and chandeliers. www.centuryfurniture.com

Copeland Furniture

Media contact: Kameron Lee

kam@kured.luxury.com

Copeland's introductions this spring pair natural materials with a minimalist design aesthetic to create versatile, sustainable furniture. Defined by a contoured silhouette and flush joints, the Whitney Lounge Chair and Ottoman are crafted from domestically sourced black walnut with a GREENGUARD-certified natural walnut finish. This new seating line combines advanced CNC technology with traditional craftsmanship. Design partner Marc Boudreau adds the Baton Extension Table and Baton Drop-Leaf Table to his collection, which originated with the Baton Dining Chair last market. The group is available in walnut, cherry or oak. Boudreau also expanded the Odin home office line with the Odin Stationary Desk. www.copelandfurniture.com

A larger-scale sofa also is new, along with 18 new finish options. www.cmfurniture.com

Fairfield Chair

200 North Hamilton, Suite 100

Media contact: Charlie Holt

cholt@fairfieldchair.com

New upholstery introductions at Fairfield Chair are complemented by an expanded selection of performance fabrics and reflect a focused exploration of Organic Modern and New Traditional design styles. Organic Modern emphasizes soft curves and sculptural profiles, with pieces such as the Chloe Sofa and the Ashby Lounge Chair setting a relaxed tone. New Traditional introductions offer a tailored counterpoint that features pleated skirts, tufted backs and structured frames. The Anna Sofa with pleated skirt spotlights the trend. In casegoods, Fairfield introduces two whole-home collections, Alto and Stewart, along with occasional collections Eve and Abbey. Alto features tambour detailing and a smoked umber finish, while Stewart is inspired by an English country house aesthetic. It features architectural elements and a warm chestnut finish. www.fairfieldchair.com

Flexsteel

IHFC C-601

Media contact: David Crimmins

dcrimmins@flexsteel.com

As health and wellness continue to shape the consumer mindset, Flexsteel expands its Flexsteel Wellness products, including introductions across its three core wellness pillars: sleep, restore and assist. The Model 4+ and 4+ Petite are added to the Zecliner® line, a sleep solution designed to support full-body comfort with zero gravity positioning, heat and massage. The 4+ models add convenience elements such as in-arm storage, wireless charging and a built-in cupholder. Under the restore pillar, two designs are added to the Flexsteel Zen category, which combines advance comfort with design-forward aesthetics. The Cove Recliner pairs adjustable heat and air massage with a unique tilt functionality for personalized comfort, while the Haven Recliner offers integrated ventilation for cooling along with heat and air massage. Under the assist pillar, the Breeze, Rivo and Vesper lift chairs are new. www.flexsteel.com

Hickory Chair

Media contact: Laura Holland

laura.holland@hickorychair.com

Celebrating its 115th anniversary, Hickory Chair presents its fourth furniture collection by David Phoenix, continuing a design partnership first introduced in 2017. The new collection brings together three defining design influences: European antiques, mid-century modernism and contemporary Italian design. It includes seating, casegoods and accents, with each piece standing on its own while remaining compatible with prior Phoenix designs. The standout El Dorado Sofa features sculptural forms informed by mid-century design. Deep horizontal panels envelop the curvaceous frame and allow for contrasting fabrics. Other highlights include the Grand Trine Nesting Cocktail Tables that cluster together or stand on their own. Each pairs an oak pedestal base with a straw marquetry top. The eponymous James River Collection by Hickory Chair also has an anniversary this year: at 85 years, it is the longest continuously-made home furnishings collection in the United States. www.hickorychair.com

Media contact: Jane Chero

jane@tmm.agency

Hooker Furnishings is advancing its whole-home strategy with the introduction of Hooker Custom Upholstery, a unified brand bringing together its custom fabric and leather capabilities, which previously were under the HF Custom and Bradington-Young brands. Designed to blend alongside Hooker Furnishings' casegoods collections, the custom upholstery line enables retail partners to create fully coordinated room environments with greater ease. New frames include Belvedere, an updated traditional button-tufted accent chair and footstool; the Harlow fully upholstered accent chair with curved back and wood-finish legs; the Palmer Sofa and Palmer

Swivel Chair with exaggerated roll arms; and the Andes Power Recliner in leather with metal arms. Also new this spring is the Hatch Home Office Collection, featuring artfully curved cases on a tall bookcase, credenza, executive desk and adjustable height desk. Also new are the Cashiers Writing Desk and Cashiers Locker in an almond finish. The Green With Envy Door Chest rounds out the new eclectic accents with its eye-catching green stain over maple burl with gold accents. www.hookerfurniture.com

Legacy Classic | Modern

2622 Uwharrie Road

Media contact: Christopher Phillips

cphillips@legacyclassic.com

Two new whole-home collections make their debut at Legacy Classic | Modern, along with an addition to the Trisha Yearwood Home Collection. Seraphina includes bedroom and dining room pieces that blend cottage styling with modern functionality. It is available in Sunlit Oak or a darker Midnight Oak finish on oak veneers. A signature ring motif, tapered feet and oil-rubbed bronze hardware complete the look. Maren offers modern elegance with a cantilever design that creates a “floating” appearance. It is finished in a soft, Fresh Canvas tone that highlights the natural character of the oak veneers, or a rich Truffle finish. Design details include woven embossing on door and drawer fronts, fluted columns and polished pewter or hammered gold bar hardware. Reflections by Trisha Yearwood adds a modern coastal cottage group to the brand. Available in Dark Roast or Cashmere finishes on the oak veneers, the group delivers a harmonious blend of comfort and versatility. Also new from Legacy is a stand-alone Casual Dining Program that includes eight groups retailing from $999 to $1,699 for a table and four chairs. Largely transitional in styling, the groups offer a mix of regular height and counter height options, along with a mix of dining chair styles. Each group includes a credenza.

Lillian August

315 Fred Alexander Place, 2nd Floor

Media contact: Sydney Martin

sydney.martin@sherrillfurniture.com

The spring 2026 additions to the Lillian August Antiquaire Collection build on a romantic European inspired aesthetic with new casegoods, dining and upholstery. Rooted in Scandinavian influenced forms and softly distressed finishes, the collection introduces an oak dining table, a sculptural cocktail table and a versatile bar cabinet. Details such as faux bone inlay, painted finishes and aged metal accents evoke the character of antiques while remaining fresh and functional for modern interiors. The expansion also includes new storage and accent pieces, including the Monet Chest with a softly distressed finish and hand-painted detailing. The Iris Serpentine Chest is a replica of a 19th century Scandinavian bow-front chest, and the Matheo Commode is an 18th century-inspired Swedish piece that embodies the understated elegance of the Rococo period. www.lillianaugust.com

Mr. & Mrs. Howard

315 Fred Alexander Place, 3rd Floor

Mr. & Mrs. Howard introduces new products reflecting three key design directions: New Heirloom, Soft Tailoring & Feminine Details and Family-Friendly Elegance. A standout piece in New Heirloom is the Anglo Indian Bed with a softly curved headboard and tall, turned posts. Soft Tailoring & Feminine Details take center stage in new casegoods with scalloped aprons, detailed carving and softened edges, all of which echo the language of new upholstery frames with box pleats, skirts and decorative trim. Inspired by European architectural detailing, the Frances Side Table by Nellie Jane showcases the trend with graceful arches surrounding the apron and detailed carving on the drawer front. Finally, the Jacques Armoire is a stand-out example of the line's new Family-Friendly Elegance. It works as a TV cabinet or practical storage armoire. www.mrandmrshoward.sherrillfurniture.com

Norwalk

IHFC M-108

Media contact: Cathy Linard

clinard@norwalkfurniture.com

In the Norwalk showroom, upholstery trends are moving away from stark minimalism toward layered maximalism and "soulful luxury." Velvet is the standout fabric for 2026, particularly in heavy weights and matte finishes for sofas. Mohair and wool are also rising as primary choices for high end upholstery. Texture-driven patterns in which visual interest comes from the tactile feel of the fabric – as in ribbing or embossing – are trending. A second trend is “grandmillennial design,” which favors traditional prints like floral chintz, toile, gingham and block prints, often mixed together rather than matched. A particular emphasis is on “pattern drenching,” where the same or complementary patterns are used across upholstery, draperies and small accents like lampshades and table linens. Beyond the prints, the trend is defined by decorative embellishments such as ruffles, pleats, bullion fringe and contrasting tape trims. Norwalk describes its third trend as “Pattern-Play.” It is characterized by oversized botanicals, plaid and tapestry-inspired weaves and soft geometrics that include retro curves and “imperfect” organic shapes. www.norwalkfurniture.com

Precedent

Precedent focuses on comfort-driven silhouettes, sculptural forms and versatility. This season’s designs highlight generous proportions, fluid curves and movement. Among them are the Arlo Sofa, striking a balance between modern ease and everyday function. Its broad silhouette, clean track arms and low-profile base create a grounded look. The Kai Swivel Chair features a rounded, generous silhouette with a high back and rolled arms. Finally, the Jovi Dining Arm Chair offers a modern sculptural design with a curved, barrel-style silhouette, wraparound arms and hidden castors. www.precedent-furniture.com

Sherrill Furniture

315 Fred Alexander Place, 1st Floor

Auré, the design-forward whole-home brand from Sherrill Furniture, unveils its latest introductions, presenting a refined and organic exploration of form and materials for the home. Rooted in two defining trends – Sculptural Grounding and Nature, Refined – the new additions present furnishings as both functional necessity and artistic expression, including the Cove Console Table, with its free edge tabletop and dramatic pedestal base resembling a weathered tree trunk. The Wabi Sabi Cocktail Tables channel a sense of organic ease with fluid edges, pebble-like tops and gently curved pedestals. A new brand, House of DuVäl x Sherrill debuts this market. Developed in collaboration with luxury interior designer DuVäl, the initial introduction includes living room, dining, bedroom and home office, with versatile accents that can be used throughout the home. In Sherrill Upholstery, the evolution of performance fabrics is highlighted in a new “Life Happens” residential setting. The installation presents 15 new fabrics from various mills in curated lifestyle vignettes. Fabrics were selected to spotlight advanced technologies, including solution-dyed fibers, PFAS-free finishes, inherent stain resistance and bleach cleanable constructions. www.sherrillfurniture.com

Sherrill Occasional

Sherrill Occasional introduces a curated assortment of occasional statement pieces that celebrate the natural beauty of materials, the artistry of woodcraft and the thoughtful integration of hidden function. The Paxton Game Table’s concealed cup rests support both everyday living and entertaining. The Harvey Credenza commands attention with a dramatic burl wood pattern and a mid-century inspired architectural form. At the heart of these and other spring introductions is a focus on the beauty and celebration of wood. Rich burl veneers, expressive grain patterns and nuanced, low sheen finishes transform each piece into a work of art. In addition to new occasional product introductions, the brand continues to build out its Custom Cabinets by Design program, launched last fall. This highly flexible program allows designers and retailers to create tailored free standing storage solutions by selecting from a wide range of configurations, door fronts, finishes and hardware options. The program highlights the brand's focus on customization, quality craftsmanship and designs made for everyday living, giving customers the flexibility to create pieces that truly fit their homes. www.sherrillfurniture.com

Stickley

225 North Hamilton

Media contact: Beth Chang

beth.chang@stickley.com

Stickley is showcasing the best of the company's design heritage – both Mission and modern – in 40 new products. Among them the Mission Shelter Chair recasts a traditional Orkney chair in Arts and Crafts style. The Harvey Ellis Gustav Bed is adapted from a bed Gustav Stickley designed for his own home. And the company's much-loved Harvey Ellis dining tables are updated with the addition of a built-in 24-inch butterfly leaf. A Studio Bed is added to Hudson Valley for smaller spaces, and a space-saving dining table is added to Walnut Grove. This spring's addition to Portfolio120 is a smart accessory designed to work with several Selectionals by Stickley cocktail ottomans. The white oak Sliding Cocktail Top provides a protective, solid table surface that moves where it's needed. It is sized to fit 36-, 48-, and 60-inch ottomans. In Stickley upholstery, nature infuses the color palette with both soft and saturated browns, deep botanical greens and organic neutrals. Textures are layered, and graphic patterns like florals, chevrons and plaids are more impactful in scale. New frame introductions highlight the company's fashion sense, tailoring and motion expertise. The Boulevard group offers 90- and 83-inch sofas, plus chairs and ottomans in a variety of style options. And the latest sectional offering lets customers choose motion models styled after Stickley's popular Chester, Hawley and Woodlands upholstery. Finally, a new swivel glider and a swivel motion option are added to the Martine accent chair group. www.stickley.com

Thayer Coggin

230 South Road, High Point
Media contact: Todd Nabors
todd@thayercoggin.com

A reintroduction of the iconic Scoop Chair by Milo Baughman (1923-2003) highlights spring market introductions at Thayer Coggin. Originally designed in the early 1970s, the Scoop returns with the same effortless modern spirit that made it a standout more than 50 years ago. The design pairs a polished stainless steel exterior frame with a gently curved upholstered shell that appears to float within it. The composition reflects Baughman’s enduring philosophy that comfort and form should work together seamlessly. The newly updated Scoop is shown in Ultrasuede Malibu, a high performance fabric developed by Toray Industries. www.thayercoggin.com

Theodore Alexander

229 West Russell Avenue
Media contact: Hilary Pope hilarypope@theodorealexander.com

Theodore Alexander is celebrating the 20th anniversary of its Althorp Collection this spring. The design partnership with Lord Charles Spencer and the Althorp family estate in England is known for its historically-inspired designs gleaned from a recorded inventory of nearly 3,000 pieces within the Althorp estate. In celebration, Theodore Alexander is reintroducing a curated retrospective of 20 past designs paired with a new collection, Sunderland Brown. This latest chapter within the Althorp Living History Collection showcases the rich character of okoume crotch veneers and intricately composed parquetry patterns. Inspired in part by the Princess of Wales Bedroom Fall Front Desk & Bureaux, Sunderland Brown carries the romance of historic interiors into the present. Additional collections introduced this spring are: Willow Creek, in wire-brushed oak veneers highlighted by signature parquetry detailing; Provence, in solid khaya and figured khaya swirl veneers in a light, whitewashed finish or a deeper brown finish, both with fluted detailing and delicate floral motifs; and Orbis in a curated mix of veneers in striking modern patterns that feel both graphic and organic. Orbis features rich oak and ash mingled with figured eucalyptus, tulip, tamo burl, curly maple, khaya and sycamore, creating a tapestry of color and grain. www.theodorealexander.com

Universal Furniture

101 South Hamilton
Media contact: Mary Leigh Howell
ml@maryleighhowell.com

Inspired by Americans’ love for continental interiors, Universal introduces the Fenwick Collection, an updated take on European Neoclassical design. It features velvet fabrics and a caramel Luminance Caribou leather on upholstered pieces, while the 80 pieces of occasional, bedroom and dining room furnishings are crafted in flat-cut birch veneers with a deep brown finish. Accents of embossed raffia serve as a textural element on select pieces, including a credenza, bachelor’s chest, console and side table. A second new whole-home collection, Velora, is defined by sculptural silhouettes, gentle curves and rich textural details. A lightly wire-brushed oak in a pale taupe finish is complemented by gold, stainless steel and antique bronze accents. This group includes more than 40 pieces. Unique accents feature geometric motifs cast in resin to create an artistic, tone-on-tone effect. Universal upholstery introduces a wide range of designs with a strong emphasis on what the company calls “heritage reimaged.” The look includes skirted silhouettes elevated by rich fabrics and leathers that add depth and dimension. Three foundational new frames – Ryman, Madison and Henri – are available in a range of configurations and sizes. Seven new accent chairs also are added.

A rich palette of organic-inspired woodgrains, lustrous metallics and luxe materiality define each new design at Vanguard. Customizable in every way, each piece is designed with intention and handcrafted with integrity in Vanguard's U.S. factories in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Two new bedroom groups are Rove and Trace. Rove offers a harmonious design with softly rounded corners on the upholstered bed and case pieces, all crafted in figured radial-matched cherry veneers that bring movement to every surface. Trace layers fabric, wood and brass in a handsome collection that is effortlessly elegant. The signature bed features flat-cut white oak detailing on the upholstered headboard and footboard, while storage pieces are crafted in white oak with brass hardware and ferrules. Zyne is a new dining table in olive ash veneers that are matched to create a one-of-a-kind tabletop with stunning visual movement. A base of ash veneers and solids complements the artful linear tabletop. In the Thom Filicia Home Collection, the new Morgan Bedroom Collection blends the modern organic beauty of natural materials with a designer's unique perspective. Richly layered, the headboard, footboard and rails of the signature bed are wrapped in abaca cord. www.vanguardfurniture.com
