Mangosteen Art Prints Expands Its Presence In Person with a Year-Round Booth at Sandalwood Shoppes and a Featured Exhibit at Fall 2026 High Point Market

Hampstead, North Carolina – July 17, 2026 – Mangosteen Publishing LLC is excited to announce two new milestones for Mangosteen Art Prints, its vibrant abstract art publishing platform and online store: a new year-round booth at Sandalwood Shoppes in Hampstead, NC, and a temporary exhibitor spot at the Fall 2026 High Point Market.

Mangosteen Art Prints has joined a curated group of local entrepreneurs at Sandalwood Shoppes, a new Hampstead gift shop, where shoppers can now browse a rotating selection of the brand's colorful, expressive abstract art prints in person. The booth offers a hands-on way for the community to experience the gallery-quality prints, customizable sizes, and framing options that have defined Mangosteen Art Prints since its launch earlier this year.

In addition, Mangosteen Art Prints will make its debut as a temporary exhibitor at the Fall 2026 High Point Market, one of the world's premier home furnishings trade shows. The brand will showcase its collection at the Suites At Market Square building, booth M-8018, giving designers, retailers, and industry professionals from around the globe the opportunity to discover Mangosteen's distinctive art prints and explore wholesale and collaboration opportunities.

"Bringing our art into a local shop like Sandalwood Shoppes and onto a stage as big as High Point Market feels like a full-circle moment," said a representative from Mangosteen Art Prints. "We started with a simple belief that art should feel personal and joyful, and now we get to share that with our neighbors in Hampstead and with the wider design community at High Point."
