FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Thompson Returns to High Point Fall Market with Marine-Grade Stainless Steel, Events & Special Giveaway

Greensboro, NC (September 2026) – Thompson, a leader in handcrafted metal sinks, vanities, range hoods, tubs, barware, and home accessories, announces its return to High Point Fall Market this October. The brand will showcase its products in Booth M20 on the second floor of 313 Space—the curated luxury design center set in a historically renovated mill.

Thompson’s updated booth will feature its newly upgraded marine-grade (Type 316) stainless steel sinks. Ideally suited for outdoor kitchens, boats, yachts and beach homes, these revised products provide superior resistance to saltwater, harsh chemicals, and chloride pitting.

High Point Market attendees are also invited to join the Thompson family for Pappy Hour on Friday, October 16 and Saturday, October 17. They will showcase the Everyday Heirlooms Collection of luxury barware. Designers and specifiers will have the opportunity to enter to win The Pappy Punchbowl Set from the popular collection (a $1,450 value) during the events.

PRODUCT LAUNCH: Marine-Grade Stainless Steel Sinks

Thompson has upgraded its handcrafted sinks with the introduction of marine-grade (Type 316) stainless steel. Engineered to deliver exceptional durability in demanding environments, this new finish—the gold standard for everything from medical devices to surgical tools and marine hardware—now comes standard on all stainless steel Thompson kitchen and bar/prep sinks.

“As an industry leader in high-end metal products for the kitchen, bath, and home, we are always looking to offer the best handcrafted products to our clients and customers,” explained Alejandra Thompson, Vice President of Sales & Marketing. “That’s why we have elevated our existing stainless steel material to marine-grade (Type 316) stainless steel. It not only benefits designers working in coastal and maritime settings, but it provides all homeowners with a superior stainless steel finish.”

The company’s most popular models—the Rivera Bar/Prep Sink (KPU-1715HSS) and the Quiroga Farmhouse Kitchen Sink (KSA-3322HSS)—will be on display at Fall Market, and a total of seven products are now available to order in marine-grade (Type 316) stainless steel.

Designed specifically for environments where durability is essential, the new sinks are particularly well suited to outdoor kitchens, boats and yachts, beach homes, and coastal projects. Marine-grade stainless steel provides exceptional protection against saltwater exposure, harsh chemicals, and chloride-related corrosion, while Thompson's signature handcrafted details bring a refined, design-forward finish to even the most demanding applications.
