

Unique Kitchens & Baths Debuts Two New Designer Collections at High Point Market

Designers Amy Zolin of Clarity Home Interiors and Dawn Heuer of Heuer Design Collective launch their inaugural collections with the brand, each bringing their unique point of view to the bespoke cabinetry space.

HIGH POINT, N.C. — October 17th, 2026: Unique Kitchens & Baths, a U.S.-based premium cabinetry brand known for blending designer-driven style with high-quality craftsmanship, announces the debut of two new cabinetry collections at High Point Market. The brand is excited to welcome Amy Zolin of Clarity Home Interiors and Dawn Heuer of Heuer Design Collective into their designer collaboration program.

Each collection features six distinctive door profiles complemented by a curated palette of eight paint colors and four wood finishes, offering designers and homeowners a versatile yet cohesive range of options. Consistent with all Unique Kitchens & Baths products, the cabinetry is designed and built in America and crafted from premium all-wood materials. Signature features include smooth, easy-to-clean finishes, dovetailed drawer boxes, and soft-close glides, underscoring the brand's commitment to quality and durability.

Clarity Home Interiors' 'The Greenwich Collection' is inspired by the architecture, history, and coastal sophistication of Greenwich, Connecticut — the community where Clarity Home Interiors was founded — drawing on bespoke British design, warm layered finishes, distinguished hardware, and richly veined marble. It reflects the brand's design philosophy of Sophistication Without Pretense: cabinetry that shapes how a home lives, bringing together furniture-inspired craftsmanship and architectural detailing to create spaces that feel refined, welcoming, and built to last for generations. Designed for kitchens, baths, mudrooms, closets, and custom millwork throughout the home, each style draws its name from meaningful family names, personal memories, and the places that shaped Clarity Home Interiors' story.

Heuer Design Collective's 'Heart of the Home' is a collection inspired by the women who shape our lives and the spaces where life happens most. Designed by Dawn Heuer and Taylor Maher, the line blends refined, timeless silhouettes with approachable details, creating cabinetry that feels elevated yet deeply livable. What makes the collection distinct is its balance of beauty and intention — every profile, finish, and functional detail was considered to support real life while honoring classic design principles. Heart of the Home was designed not just to be seen, but to be lived in: layered, loved, and uniquely yours.

Designer collaborations are an essential part of Unique Kitchens & Baths' ongoing evolution, giving interior designers pieces that reflect their unique aesthetic while maintaining the functionality and craftsmanship the brand is known for.

At Unique Kitchens & Baths, the mission has always been to create timeless kitchens designed to be lived in and loved for years to come. What began as a shared passion for thoughtful design and craftsmanship has grown into a nationally recognized kitchen and bath design studio and cabinetry manufacturer. Every cabinet is handcrafted in the USA with meticulous attention to detail, with a timeline of approximately 12 weeks from design approval to delivery and complimentary blanket-wrapped shipping nationwide.

About Amy Zolin

Amy Zolin is the founder and principal designer of Clarity Home Interiors, an award-winning, published interior design firm with studios in Greenwich, Connecticut, and Charleston, South Carolina. For more than two decades, she has designed luxury residences throughout the Northeast and beyond — including Connecticut, New York, Palm Beach, Charleston, and Vail — known for balancing sophistication and comfort, blending historic influences and architectural detail with modern functionality.

Before founding her practice, Amy spent seven years at Saks Fifth Avenue managing luxury fashion brands including Chanel, Gucci, Prada, and Fendi, an experience that shaped her appreciation for craftsmanship and the subtle details that define true luxury. Raised in the South and now rooted in both New England and Charleston, Amy draws on the architecture, hospitality, and traditions of the places she calls home, guided by a belief that great design should feel collected rather than decorated.

Her work extends beyond interiors into product design, most recently with The Greenwich Collection — a signature cabinetry line inspired by Greenwich's architectural heritage and the enduring influence of British design.
